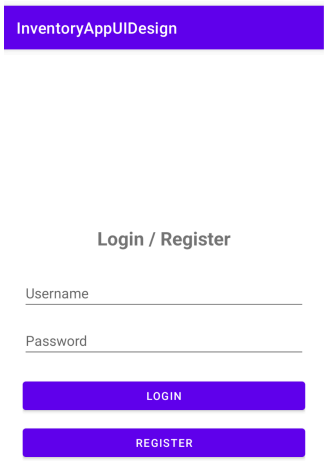
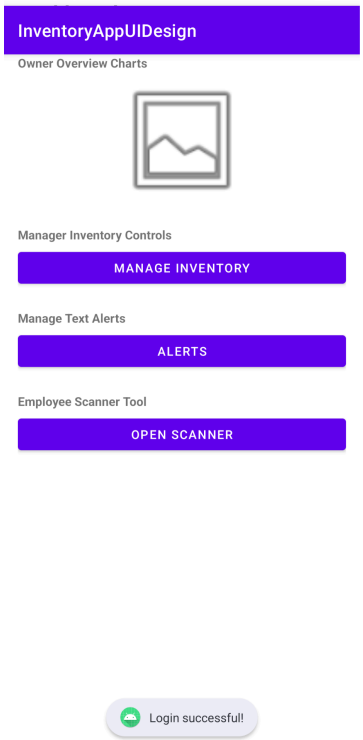
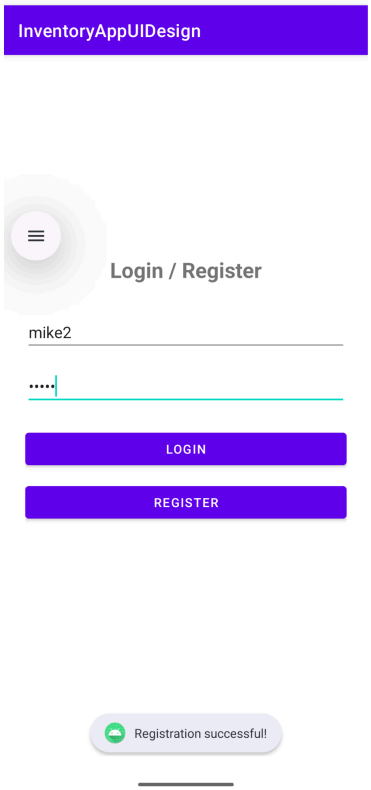
Login page



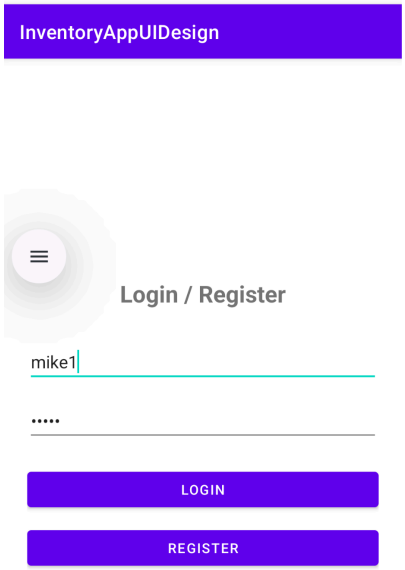
Login successful



Registration successful



User already exists



Password Hash and Salt in Database

Information:
This is my update to the Login/Registration portion of my Android application.

I am working on this one application building it into a full fledged usable inventory management application with industry standards and best practices.

For this I met my planned enhancements and improved the quality and safety of not only the user interface, but also of the data at rest, and the code itself. This is an integral part of my software as it is necessary that user data is stored and protected while also providing good feedback to the user.